BOSTON, February 12.

Laſt Saturday His Excellency the Governor ſent the following Meſſage to the Honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

I HAVE always underſtood that it has been the general uſage of this Government, countenanced by the Charter, for the Lieut. Governor when he was not elected a Councellor to have a ſeat in the Council, without a voice. But ſince it has appeared from your anſwer to my ſpeech that you have thought otherwiſe, I gave orders in Council to the Secretary to ſearch the books, and to make inquiry by other means, if neceſſary, what has been the uſage of the Government in this reſpect. It appears from this report that every Lieut. Governor ſince the opening the preſent Charter; has uſually and freqently when not elected a Councellor ſat in Council, until the time of Governor Belcher, who excluded the Lieut. Governor from a ſeat in the Council, which he complained of as a grievance and ſubmitted to with reſentment. I hereby communicate to you a copy of this report; that if you pleaſe you may review this matter, and conſider whether your cenſure of the Lieutenant Governor has not been too haſty; as it appears not to be ſupported by this inſtance, nor by any other that I have as yet been made acquainted with. FRANCIS BERNARD.

Council-Chamber, February 7, 1767.

[Here follows a Report of the Secretary, of the Precedents where ſundry of the Lieutenant Governors have ſat in Council, but not material.]

Wedneſday laſt a Committee of the Honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives waited on the Governor, with the following Remonſtrance.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

IN Reply to your Meſſage of the 30th of January, the Houſe of Repreſentatives beg leave to obſerve; That it is by virtue of the Royal charter alone, that the Governor and Council have any authority to iſſue money out of the Treaſury, and that only, according to ſuch acts as are or may be in force within the province. This clauſe was intended to ſecure to the Houſe of Repreſentatives, the privilege of originating, granting and diſpoſing of taxes: But we apprehend, it would be of very little value and importance, if it ſhould ever become a ſettled rule, that the houſe are obliged to empoſe and levy aſſeſſments, rates and taxes, upon the eſtates or perſons of their conſtituents, for the payment of ſuch expences as may be incurred by virtue of an order of the Governor and Council, without the knowledge and conſent of the houſe. Your Excellency therefore, in giving orders, with the advice of the Council, for making proviſion for the artillery companies at the caſtle, acted, in an eſſential point, contrary to the plain intention of the charter of the province, wherein the powers of the ſeveral branches of the General Aſſembly are declared and limited. If, however, there was an urgent neceſſity for this procedure, in the receſs of the Court, we are very much ſurprized that your Excellency ſhould ſuffer the whole of the laſt Seſſion of the General Aſſembly to paſs over, without laying this matter before us; and that it was again omitted, in the preſent ſeſſion, till the houſe had waited upon your Excellency with their meſſage. It is the juſt expectation of this houſe, founded in the principles of the conſtitution, to have the earlieſt notice of a matter of this nature; and we cannot but remonſtrate to your Excellency, that the omiſſion of it, was in breach of our privilege.

But, may it pleaſe your Excellency, it is ſtill more grievous to us, to find your Excellency making mention, of a late act of parliament, in purſuance of which your Excellency, and the council have created this expence to the province. One great grievance in regard to the ſtamp-act was, that it deprived us of the advantage of a fundamental and moſt eſſential part of the Britiſh conſtitution, the unalienable right of freedom, from all taxation, but ſuch as we ſhall voluntarily conſent to and grant: While we feel a ſenſe of the worth and importance of this right, we cannot but expreſs a very deep concern, that an act of Parliament ſhould yet be in being, which appears to us to be as real a grievance, as was that which ſo juſtly alarmed this continent. Your Excellency and the Council, by taking this ſtep, unwarrantably and unconſtitutionally ſubjected the people of this province to an expence, without giving this houſe an opportunity of paſſing their judgment upon it: And have alſo put it out of our power, by an act of our own, to teſtify the ſame chearfulneſs, which this aſſembly has always ſhown in granting to his Majeſty of their free accord, ſuch aids, as his Majeſty's ſervice has from time to time required.

Saturday laſt a Committee of the Honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives waited on the Governor with the following Remonſtrance.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

WE His Majeſty's moſt dutiful and faithful Subjects, the Repreſentatives of his ancient and loyal Province of the Maſſachuſetts-Bay, were much ſurprized at the contents of two Proclamations of Governor Palliſer, of Newfoundland, printed in the Maſſachuſetts Gazette of the 8th of January laſt. But our concern was truly inexpreſſible on finding that thoſe Proclamations were republiſhed here by order of your Excellency, with the advice of the Council, and only called "Notifications publiſhed, that all perſons concerned might be apprized thereof." When we reflected on the heinous charges of Mr. Palliſer againſt the people of this province, of robbery, piracy, murder, and in effect of treaſon and rebellion, it was abſolutely impoſſible for us to conceive that any conſiderations could induce your Excellency and the Council to give them the ſanction you have vouchſafed, but the moſt plenary proof of the allegations, contained in thoſe proclamations. This made it not only proper but quite neceſſary for us to apply to your Excellency, by the moſt humble Meſſage of the 30th of January laſt, to be informed what evidence your Excellency was poſſeſſed of, and to deſire you to furniſh the Houſe with any that you might think fit to communicate. We received for anſwer that your Excellency had none but Commodore Palliſer's letter incloſing his Proclamations, a copy of which your Excellency was pleaſed to lay before us. We have carefully peruſed and duely conſidered the ſame, and are aſtoniſhed to find nothing more in it than a repetition of the general charges above mentioned, except in the letter his accuſations ſeem to be more directly pointed againſt this Province than any other on the continent. We have been at the pains to examine ſome of the principal traders from hence to Newfoundland, and the coaſts of Labradore; but cannot yet obtain the leaſt proof of any of the heavy charges contained in the ſaid Proclamations. We ſhould be in leſs pain at thoſe Proclamations of Mr. Palliſer, had they not very unfortunately ſo far received the ſanction of the Governor and Council of this Province as to be thus re-publiſhed in the Maſſachuſetts Gazette. We are alſo well informed that many copies have been ſtruck off by themſelves and diſperſed. We are conſtrained to believe ſuch a precedure will have a direct tendancy to impreſs the mind of our moſt gracious Sovereign, his Parliament and Miniſtry, with leſs favourable ſentiments in regard to the firm and unſhaken loyalty and affection of the people of this province to his Majeſty's royal Perſon, Family and Government. Had your Excellency but declared to the world that you were furniſhed with no proofs of the truth of Mr. Palliſer's impeachment, but his own declarations, all candid and impartial men muſt have ſuſpended their belief, till further and better evidence ſhould appear. But as the affair now ſtands, it is much to be apprehended that it will be natural for all at home and abroad to urge the proceedings of your Excellency and the Council, as at leaſt a tacit conceſſion of the truth of Mr. Palliſer's accuſations. If ſo the fiſhery, on which the trade and commerce of Great-Britain, as well as that of this country ſo much depends, will in all probability be in danger of further unreaſonable reſtrictions, and the reputation of this province in particular be greatly wounded. If your Excellency and the Council were to proclaim the inhabitants of any neighbouring colony robbers and pirates, and the Governor and Council of ſuch colony were to republiſh your proclamation without expreſſing the leaſt doubt of the fact, all mankind might juſtly infer that the charge was admitted as well founded; that the plea of Guilty was given in, and ſuch colony, put only on the mercy of the King.

BOSTON, February 16.

On Tueſday laſt the Houſe of Repreſentatives, by a large majority, paſs'd a Reſolve, that the Lieut. Governor, not being elected a Counſellor, has by the Charter, no right to a ſeat at the Council Board, with or without a voice, while the Commander in Chief is in the Province. After which a Committee was appointed to bring in an anſwer to the Governor's Meſſage.

Friday laſt his Excellency was pleaſed to ſend the following Meſſage to the Honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives, viz.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

I Have before me your Vote for diſmiſſing your Agent Mr. Jackſon: I am very deſirous that Mr. Jackſon ſhould be releaſed from your ſervice. But you ſhould conſider that payment and diſmiſſion, ought to go together; eſpecially when the former has been ſo neglected heretofore. Mr. Jackſon has ſerved you five years including the current: The three firſt years as your ſtanding Council appointed by Commiſſion under the Province Seal; during which time he was as fully employed as your Agent, and in the moſt material buſineſſes jointly with him. In the two laſt years, beſides a general attention to your buſineſs as Agent, he bore a conſiderable part in a moſt important ſervice to you and the reſt of America. I cannot take upon me to ſay what he expects; but I know ſo much of his moderation, as to be aſſured that he will be ſatisfied with what will be conſiſtent with your honor to offer and his to accept. FRANCIS BERNARD.

Council-Chamber, Feb. 13, 1767.

FEBRUARY 19.

Tueſday laſt his Excellency was pleaſed to ſend the following Meſſage to the Honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

THE charges againſt me and the Council, contained in your Meſſage of the 4th inſt. have had a full conſideration; the reſult of which is, that the proceedings in making proviſion for the King's troops lately arrived here, appear to be conſtitutional and warrantable; and are juſtified, not only by the uſage of this Government, but by the authority of the General Court itſelf.

The Barracks of the Caſtle were built by order of the General Court, for the reception of the King's Troops, when they ſhould arrive here, that there might be no occaſion for quartering them upon the inhabitants. Fuel and candle are neceſſary to the occupation of Barracks: Without them no troops could go in or ſtay there, it being an allowance always incidental to their living in Barracks. When therefore the General Court ordered theſe Barracks to be built for troops, it muſt have been implied that the incidental neceſſaries ſhould be provided for the troops when they went into them. Otherwiſe we muſt ſuppoſe that the General Court, did not intend that the Barracks ſhould be applied to the uſe for which they were built.

The manner of making the proviſion, and the proviſion itſelf, were agreeable to the uſage of this Government in the like caſes. It conſiſted of fuel and candle only, which are abſolutely neceſſary, and always have been allowed in theſe Barracks; and it did not include the ſeveral articles preſcribed by the Act of Parliament. And therefore it was wholly conformable to the uſage of the Government, and the neceſſity of the caſe, but to the Act, only as it coincided with it. If there had been no ſuch Act, the Council would have thought themſelves obliged to have adviſed the ordering this proviſion, as it was neceſſary to the uſe of the Barracks; it being their duty in the receſs of the General Court to aſſiſt me in carrying into execution, by the uſual means, an eſtabliſhment provided for the convenience of the people.

As to your complaint againſt me for not laying this matter before you during the whole of laſt Seſſion, and part of this Seſſion, I ſhall only ſtate the facts and leave it there.

What you call the whole of laſt Seſſion was only the ſix laſt days of it, when you met after an adjournment, to paſs upon the Compenſation Bill. As ſoon as you had finiſhed that buſineſs, you deſired me to grant you a receſs. I did ſo, and told you at the ſame time, that upon that account I had poſtponed all other buſineſs to the next Seſſion.

As to the part of this Seſſion, it was not forty eight hours; and within that time I had given orders for making out an account of the expence of the proviſion, in order to lay it before you, and I actually received it within two hours after I had your Meſſage. This is the whole of what you call an omiſſion in breach of your privilege.

FRANCIS BERNARD.

PHILADELPHIA, February 26.

Extract of a Letter from London, November 25, 1766.

"In an auguſt Aſſembly, the oppoſition (that is, thoſe who are out of place) headed by G. G---v---lle, found much fault with the great ſtretch of the Royal prerogative, in putting a ſtop to the exportation of corn, contrary to ſeveral expreſs acts of parliament, without calling the parliament together, which they inſiſted upon might eaſily have been done, at any time, upon a fortnight's notice, inſtead of which, at the very period when the ſcarcity of corn appeared to be certain and inevitable, it was prorogued (September 10) to an unuſual length of time, 61 days inſtead of 40, the common period of prorogations; that if they ſuffered this to paſs unnoticed, future miniſters would be tempted to venture on like exertions of the prerogative, on occaſions dangerous to the liberty of the ſubject, &c. &c. I have not indeed patience, even to repeat all the nonſenſe that was thrown out by G---v---lle, who ſpoke evidently from a ſpirit of faction and reſentment, and who ſets out this ſeſſion, preciſely as he did the laſt, in the moſt virulent oppoſition to all the operations of the miniſtry, without reaſon, ſenſe, or argument. Were I his maſter, no motive whatever ſhould induce me to take him into my ſervice again, be his abilities (and they are but ſecond rate) what they will.---He was anſwered very pertinently by S---y C---y, on behalf of the miniſtry, that this exertion of the prerogative, was made for the moſt ſalutary and neceſſary purpoſes, no leſs than to prevent a general ſcarcity; that he owned he was one that adviſed it; that he knew when he did ſo, that he became anſwerable to parliament for ſuch advice; that he ſubmitted it to them, whether this was a proper exertion of the prerogative, or whether it tended in the remoteſt degree, to infringe the liberty of the ſubject; that the honourable gentlemen who ſpoke laſt (Mr. G---v---lle) muſt have certainly received ſome new lights of late, who had himſelf laſt year ſtrenuouſly argued in behalf of General Warrants, an exertion of prerogative which moſt nearly affected the liberty of the ſubject, and which could not be vindicated by the plea of neceſſity, as in the preſent caſe; that calling the parliament together in the ſummer ſeaſon, when many of the members were very variouſly and widely diſperſed, would, be apprehended, have given too great an alarm to the nation; that there was no neceſſity for it; and that as to calling them together at any time, at ſo ſhort a notice as 12 or 14 days, he appealed to the houſe, whether this would not be a moſt dangerous precedent, as a Miniſter, by that means, would be able to ſurpriſe the Houſe into any pernicious ſcheme he might be diſpoſed to carry.---He concluded with ſaying, that the conduct of theſe Gentlemen was uniform enough; for when in place, they wanted to deprive the people of their liberty (referring to Genral Warrants) and now they wanted to deprive them of their food.

Mr. G---v---lle then propoſed (in my opinion moſt abſurdly) that for the preſent relief of the poor, they ſhould addreſs his Majeſty to adminiſter to their neceſſities in ſuch manner, as to his Royal wiſdom ſhould ſeem meet; aſſuring him, that they would make good the ſame out of the firſt aids granted by parliament. To this it was objected, that it was impoſſible to diſtribute ſuch relief, in a proper manner; that if it were poſſible, it would be highly improper, as it would ſeem to allow, there were no means left to relieve them but by a diſtribution of public money, which at the beſt would be very inſufficient, and would appear as if they bribed them to be quiet; that the evil ought to be probed to the bottom, and the real cauſes of our preſent ſituation ought to be explored, and ſuch remedies applied as were more adequate to the neceſſities of the poor than any temporary relief could be.—To this G---v---lle replied, that he having endeavoured to make our colonies in America, contribute to the ſupport of government, they had bribed them to be quiet, by a total repeal of that law; and that it was very ſtrange, they would not do that for the relief of their poor at home, which they did for the Americans, who were able to bear the tax. G---v---lle, as he well deſerved, was totally defeated; for he was but poorly ſeconded. You ſee this is only another wicked effort, to embarraſs our councils, and to divert the parliament from the neceſſary buſineſs of the nation. For my own part, I wiſh well to the ſtate in general, whoever has the management of our affairs, and therefore I want to ſee a permanent, able, and bonteſt miniſtry, unmoleſted with faction, in good earneſt ſet about a thorough inquiry into the real cauſes of our preſent diſtreſſes and diſcontents; and every man who attempts to divert the miniſtry for the time being from doing this, I conſider as an enemy to his country. I ſhould have told you, by the bye, that S---y C---y behaved both with modeſty and ſpirit. In anſwer to a charge of ignorance, that had been thrown out by G---v---lle, in the debate about the proclamation for preventing the exportation of corn; he ſaid he pretended not to be very expert in the duties of his office, but that as he acted with the pureſt intentions for the good of his ſovereign, and his country, and was conſcious of the integrity of his heart, for this reaſon he thought he, in ſome meaſure, deſerved the place he held, tho' he was ready, with chearfulneſs to reſign it, whenever his Majeſty thought proper to fill it with one of greater abilities.—In the other houſe, Lord T--p-e, I am told, acted much the ſame part with Mr. G---v---lle, and with the ſame ſucceſs.

"Upon the whole, I think it may be fairly concluded, that as the oppoſition have at preſent ſo very little to find fault with; as the nation, in general, are quite tired with oppoſition to men only, without regard to meaſures; as the ſtates of the nation requires immediate attention; and as the parliament is drawing near its concluſion, the preſent members will be induced to recommend themſelves to their electors, by exerting themſelves this ſeſſion, in doing ſomething for the people.

"One important piece of buſineſs will certainly come before them ſoon, that is, the affairs of the Eaſt-India Company, as it is certainly neceſſary for the permanent ſecurity of our great acquiſitions and conqueſts in that part of the world, that they ſhould be taken more immadiately under the protection of the Government, and therefore I do not think the Company have any thing to apprehend from this inquiry, that can be detrimental to their intereſt."

By Capt. Alliſon, from Antigua, we have advice, that a ſnow, in ſix weeks from London, bound for Turks-Iſland, with Governor Seymour on board, had put in there in diſtreſs, having ſprung a leak at ſea, but was to ſail again the 8th inſtant.
